

FACE

FACE - FAir Computational Epidemiology

PROJECT COORDINATOR

The FACE project envisions a huge opportunity in providing an open modeling and simulation platform where scientists can exploit a wide variety of datasets, with different access and privacy policies, as a way to provide rapid responses to epidemics outbreaks through research infrastructure services underpinning and supporting epidemics research.

